Overview
Randi J. Hagerman, MD, an internationally recognized expert in fragile X syndrome and related conditions, will discuss the latest premutation carrier issue: Fragile X-Associated Neuropsychiatric Disorders (FXAND). This conference is designed specifically for fragile X carriers and their partners to learn how FXAND may impact individuals and their families. The information will also be helpful for caregivers, educators, and other professionals working with persons with fragile X syndrome.

The focus will be on practical strategies to better understand and deal with real-life emotions and situations. The panel discussion will provide an additional opportunity for questions.

Registration opens August 15th!
